Bedworks' Foam is "Open Cell," hypoallergenic & so green that it carries the Certi-Pur™ Certification. And its carbon footprint is tiny: our foam is made only 200 miles away in Canada [not 10,000 miles away in China]!

We only use safe, water-based glue in our layered mattresses. Our mattresses contain NO CHEMICAL FLAME RETARDENTS. Instead, their fabric covers rely on silica embedded in their fibers(per CA standards).

"Open cell" means our foam is 100% porous to the ambient air. No formaldehyde gas is used to make it. Our foam never "offgasses" anything but natural air.

The air in your mattress constantly rises . . . as your body [98.6°] & the bedroom's temperature warms its top surface. All night long, hundreds of cubic feet of cooler air enter your mattress, through its open sides, refreshing & replacing the warmed air that rises into the room.

Firmness Factor ["FF" or ILD] is the foam industry's universal firmness specification:

FF measures the pressure required [in lbs. or kgs] to press an 8" dia. steel plate 2" down into a 8" thick sheet of this foam. The softer the foam, the lower its FF number. The foam industry uses this FF [i.e. ILD] everywhere to spec, order and fabricate foam.

Bedworks' Mattresses come with a 20-Year industry-standard limited, pro rata warranty.
